Conservative Party of Canada National Convention 2007

On behalf of the Conservative Party of Canada, Prime Minister Harper was delighted to announce this past spring that there will be a National CPC Convention in March 2007 in Winnipeg. The meeting will include policy sessions, social activities and of course, an address or two by the Prime Minister and his Cabinet colleagues. It will be the first time this century that the Conservatives will meet as the sitting government and it will no doubt be one of the more important meetings for all Canadians.

In preparation for the National Convention, OSCA will be holding a number of policy meetings, culminating in an Eastern Ontario regional policy convention. The policies, ideas and opinions we formulate as the grassroots of our Party will eventually make their way to the national convention floor for discussion and resolution.

We would like to hear from you regarding policy suggestions and ideas. Look for more details in our fall edition of the OSCA Newsletter and future eNewsletters or by OSCA e-mail on these meetings and the convention delegate selection meeting to take place well before March '07.
